I have theabela's ultralights. I am a huge fan. They are priced very well too.

I hike in them near as much as I fish as I like to get away from people and I am real impatient. If I am not catching fish in a short time I move, and move, and move. Not the best tactic for fishing but I am very impatient.

I get out fishing a few days a week from March to Sept and they have held up well. Had them all of last season and they are pretty much as new.
