My philosophy? Set back and enjoy. Ain't no rush as long as yer enjoyin yerself. 😊

I average about a dozen an hour. I can tie slightly faster, but it then becomes a chore and ain't no fun. And I agree with the person that mentioned the first five or six are usually not proportioned. On a long run of 20 or 30 dozen, my first five or six flies are usually rejects that go into my fly box. 😬
