

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Tying Kits

Re: Tying Kits

Author: : steveb

Date: : 2007/4/24 19:37:22

URL:

<http://www.whiteclayff.proboards75.com/index.cgi>

Check these guys out, they get together every Thursday night to tie. They have regular outings on the stream as well, all for $25.00 a year. I joined this year and got 7 weeks of lessons including two nights from a registered casting instructor who is a member. And what I have learned from them I could not have paid for. Their advice was to stay away from the kit, buy the best you can afford.

They have materials and tools to borrow on thursday nights, they even lent me a different vice each week while I made my mind up on what to buy. I even got a loaner for a month from a local store owner. Nothing beats hands on help. There is also a fly swap at their monthly meeting.