When I started flyfishing, I invested in a day long course held by a local flyshop. They really pushed me up the learning curve in a hurry.

The curriculum covered casting (not easy to figure out, and it's probably the single most important skill), fly selection, how trout make a living, life stages of insects, equipment and many other tip and tricks.

I'm not sure where you are from, but if you give a vague idea we may be able to point you in the right direction.
