

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Blue Herons

Re: Blue Herons

Author: : AlwaysWading

Date: : 2009/8/4 18:13:38

URL:

No offence to conservation, but more times than not we end up conserving the wrong item. We had to protect hawks, and what happens, hawks all over the place, rabbit and pheasant population down. We have to protect the herons, and what happens, now you can find them along almost every native trout stream, plus the stocked ones when they have fish in them. Maybe its time to look at conservation from a different direction, that being protecting what we hunt and fish.