I consider "how-to" books a necessary evil, like dropper loops, unless they are heavily anecdotal (the books, not the loops). Ray Bergman's "Trout" comes to mind as a pleasurable instruction book.

Here's my top ten. I heartily endorse:

1. "Fishing and Thinking" by AA Luce
2. "Fishing the Wilder Shores" by Sidney Spencer
3. "Fishing a Highland Stream" by John Inglis Hall
4. "The Compleat Fly Fisherman - The Notes and Letters of Theodore Gordon", edited by John McDonald
5. "Nymph Fishing - A History of the Art and Practice" by Terry Lawton
6. "The Essential G.E.M. Skues" edited by Kenneth Robson
7. "A Book of Trout Flies" by Preston Jennings
8. "The FlyFisher's Entomolgy" by Alfred Ronalds
9. "Streamer Fly Tying & Fishing" by Joseph D. Bates, Jr.
10. "George Harvey - Memories, Patterns and Tactics" by GWH and Daniel L. Shields
