

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Steelhead just around the corner

Re: Steelhead just around the corner

Author: : StudentofTheStream

Date: : 2009/8/13 10:02:06

URL:

BJ don't kid yourself into thinking oak doesn't get some serious pressure. During the week it can be decent but it's still a crap shoot. The salmon has a lot more water than oak so the anglers there can spread out more. On oak they are confined to a relatively small area. Check the photo below and see how many guys you can count.

This was just one area of the stream in front of the archers club. It is very popular water but both up and downstream of this was just about equal with people.

I choose Oak because it's closer and I can fish some other tribs on the way there and back with the extra travel time saved.

Attach file:

 OakMadness.jpg (205.03 KB)

